Sewer Committee Submits Report

GIVES REASON FOR DELAY IN WORK

Resolutions and Ordinances Must Be Acted Upon By Two Cities

The Advisory Sewer committee recently appointed by the City Council to investigate the delay in proceeding with installation of Glendale's $1,600,000 sewer system connecting with the Los Angeles outfall sewer, as provided by contract between the two cities, reports after investigation that no unnecessary time is being consumed in getting the project under way.

Following organization at a meeting held last Friday, June 13, in the City hall, the committee set to work under the leadership of its chairman, Herman Nelson, to confer with the various city departments and officials, as to the reasons for the delay.

Report in Full

Following is the full report of their findings:

"The sewer committee finds from the investigation it has made that certain resolutions and ordinances will have to be introduced and passed by the city councils of the city of Los Angeles and of the city of Glendale, in order to comply with the joint sewer act of the Legislature as amended in 1923, and to make the sewer contract comply therewith, and with certain other statutes. These resolutions and ordinances are in the course of preparation and will be ready for introduction at an early date.

Change Location

"It further appears that since the bond election on January 8, 1924, it has become necessary to change, to some extent, the exact location of the sanitary sewer, which is all located within the corporate limits of the city of Los

BIG AMOUNT OF MONEY HIDDEN

Thousands of Misers In United States Conceal Many Millions

By EDNA MARSHALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The miser, sitting nightly in nervous solitude, gloating over his heaps of gold, is not a legendary or fictional character. There are 8000 of him in the United States.

This is one of the high lights turned up by Joseph S. McCoy, actuary for the United States treasury department, in his constant delving into the monetary affairs of the nation.

Huge Sum Secreted

Secreted at various spots in the United States—whether buried, pirate fashion, at the foot of a gnarled tree, hidden under the boards of the miser's floor, or tucked away in socks and fruit jars—is a treasure of $433,000,000.

Mr. McCoy, whose activities have won for him the title of "the man who knows the unknowable, speaks the unspeakable, and unscrews the inscrutable," set out recently to find out just how this gigantic fortune, missing from the nation's deposited and circulating currency was held. His

NOTE CLOSES EXCLUSION INCIDENT

Japan Must Make Next Move So Far as U. S. Is Concerned

By DUKE N. PARRY
For International News Service.

TOKIO, June 18.—America's reply to Japan's exclusion protest, while friendly and conciliatory in tone, implies that the incident is closed so far as Washington is concerned, it was learned this afternoon.

There is considerable speculation as to Japan's next move, it is definitely admitted, however, that the American communication will be used as the basis of an attack on the floor of the Diet, when that body convenes, June 24.

Study Communication

Baron Shidehara, foreign minister in the Kato cabinet, received the correspondents in audience this afternoon, but was non-committal.

The foreign office is studying closely the American communication. From sources close to the foreign office it was learned that no serious points of difference have been found between the Japanese protest and the American answer.

The communication from Washington is now ready for the public and probably will be given to the press tonight.

Charge Imperialism

From all indications, the new Kato ministry is biding its time. It will make no further protest to Washington at this time, nor will any appeals be made to the League of Nations. There has been talk that Japan would issue a manifesto upon the exclusion issue, "addressed to the whole world," but no move in this direction will be taken immediately, if at all.

Receipt of the American reply has opened the whole immigration question in the press. This circumstance, taken with the opening of the Diet next week, has served to stimulate activity on the part of the jingoes, who are accusing the United States of imperialism.

SENSATION NEAR IN GREER TRIAL

Chauffeur to Bare Details Of New Year's Shooting In Dines' Rooms

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—New details of the shooting of Courtland Sylvester Dines, Denver oil millionaire, accounts of which have been blurred by strange lapses of memory on the part of several witnesses, will be given today or tomorrow by Horace Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, film star, when he takes the stand to estify in his own defense.

"Greer will tell everything," his attorneys announced today. "Details of this affair which have been kept secret will become known for the first time when he testifies."

Greer's attorneys said that the chauffeur's desire to say nothing that might involve Miss Normand in "unpleasant publicity" had caused him to withhold his story until he takes the stand.

Bishop Adds $50,000 Gift to Aid Seminary

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—The $50,000 gift of laymen in Los Angeles and vicinity to Bishop John J. Cantwell, head of the Catholic diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego, on the silver jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood, will be added to the fund for building a juvenile seminary, it was announced here today. The purse was presented to the bishop at a celebration given by Knights of Columbus here last night.

Efforts To Form Third Party May End In Wreckage

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 18.—The St. Paul association, which had charge of the Farmer-Labor party's convention arrangements, served notice this afternoon on William Mahoney, guiding spirit of the Reds' assembly, that because of radical leanings of the meeting it would not be responsible for paying the rental of the auditorium. Mahoney himself then assumed full responsibility for the rent and said he would lock the doors if the Farmer-Laborites walked out.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 18.—The issue which has developed at the third party convention here is so fundamental that it may wreck the efforts of the Farmer, Labor and Communistic groups to get together in a national political organization. On the one side are the avowed Communists who, while denying that they are financed or controlled by the Moscow Internationale, openly proclaim themselves as fraternizing with it in the same sense that the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is affiliated with the International Chamber of Commerce and European business organizations. On the other side are the radicals who used to belong to the Socialist party and who want socialization of industry and many other drastic reforms, but who prefer to get it by programs and methods similar to the British Labor party. "I am not a Communist," said Duncan MacDonald, former head of the Illinois miners' union, "but if a man wants to be one that's his business. It would be a great mistake, however, to try to make this a Communistic convention, and I feel confident even the Communists realize that this would be an error. I am here in the hope that we can form a national organization. I was in the Socialist party for years. I have been floundering about in recent years, looking for a national organization in which I could honestly go. I went the other day to southern Illinois, where there are 75,000 miners out of work. The destitution is terrible. Something must be done and perhaps we can influence that action by the steps we take here."

David Lawrence

Mr. MacDonald is being mentioned for the presidential nomination in the event that Senator La Follette refuses to run on the platform adopted, but he talks as if he, too, would decline to be a candidate on an out-and-out Communist platform.

Soap Box Orators

It is easy to smile at the various delegates who are in attendance here, their uncouth appearance, their secret conferences and their vagaries. But sneers and smiles will not crush the movement nor keep it from extreme programs. Most of the men here are the old-time soap-box orators who have the courage of their convictions. Underneath it all, however, they are not as violent as they look. They are not as keen for the soviet system as they appear to be on the surface. They have the same cupidity, the same selfishness and the same political maneuvers which are characteristic of all political conventions.

Undoubtedly there is a good deal of foreign influence here. The example of the British Labor party is held up constantly as are the group tactics of the French socialists. Schemes of representation are proposed here which differ materially from the methods of the Republican or Democratic parties.

The writer talked with Thomas Walter Mills, one of the chief La Follette supporters here, who is called a conservative because he

PURCHASE LEASE OF LOCAL STORE

J. C. Penny Co. Acquires Fixtures and Space on Brand Boulevard

The J. C. Penny company, owners of one of the largest chains of department stores in America, will establish a store in Glendale in the near future, it was announced this morning through the office of Mark A. Denman, realtor at 249 North Brand boulevard, who has just completed a deal between B. H. Shock of the Penny company and Leo Kanner of the Brand Department store at 233-35 North Brand boulevard.

The Penny company has purchased the lease and fixtures of the North Brand store and will take possession in the middle of July. The general headquarters of the company are in New York City, but negotiations for the Glendale store were handled by the western headquarters at San Bernardino. W. C. Bixler of that city will come to Glendale to take over the managership of the Penny store and plans to have it ready for opening under the new name on July 15.

Over 500 Stores

Stores in over 500 towns throughout the mid-west, western and southern states are owned and operated by the J. C. Penny company. They carry a line of dry goods and ready-to-wear clothing as well as the regular line of sundries stocked by the modern department store.

Mr. Kanner opened the Brand Department store two years ago, coming to this city from New York. He leased the entire first floor of the Kelly block shortly after the building was completed and installed modern display fixtures. He retains an interest in Glendale real estate and will remain a resident of this city.

CANDIDATES BATTLE ON M'ADOO

Unite In Fear Rule for Two-Thirds Majority to Go In Discard

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 18.—It's McAdoo against the field!

Backed by one of the strongest organizations that any candidate ever took into a national convention, and supremely confident of their ability to nominate their man, as well as control the convention machinery, the McAdoo managers served notice today that they are going into Madison Square garden next Tuesday prepared to give battle on everything from platform to rules.

Driven Together

The formidable McAdoo strength and tactics are such that all opposing candidacies are being driven into each other's arms for self-protection in the pre-convention maneuvering here.

The fight over the rules will be the first number on the garden's card of bouts, it appeared today.

The McAdoo managers will support a fight to abrogate the rule that requires a winning candidate to obtain two-thirds of the delegates—in this case 732. The rule has stood since Jackson's day and it will be a stiff contest.

Big Fight Ahead

Abolition of the rule will be opposed by every candidacy opposed to McAdoo's. The supporters of Governor Al Smith will fight it because, while they believe McAdoo at one time or another may get a majority of the convention, he can never obtain 732 of the 1,096 delegates.

The supporters of every dark horse candidate in the Democratic stable will fight it, not because they love Al Smith, but because their only hope lies in a deadlocked convention and the inevitable compromise.

M'Adoo Not Worried by Plan to Abolish Rule

WASHINGTON, June 18.—William G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, announced here today that he was not concerned about the proposed abolition of the two-thirds rule in the Democratic national convention.

Accompanied by his wife, daughters and a party of political friends, McAdoo passed through Washington en route to New York to attend the convention.

"It is immaterial to me," he said, in reply to questions concerning the abolition of the two-thirds rule. "I think we will win and I am confident of the result, whether the nomination is made by the two-thirds or the majority rule."

White House 'Way Bill'

Railroad employes presented Mr. McAdoo with a "way bill" for his journey from Los Angeles to Washington. His destination on the "way bill" was the White House.

Upon leaving the train the McAdoos went to the home of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson on S street for breakfast. The party then returned to the train and continued on to New York.

LIONS WILL LEAVE

FIGHT STARTS BLAZE IN BUSINESS DISTRICT

More Than 200 Guests In Hotel and Rooming House Flee From Flames

By HARRY NORTHRUP
For Southland News Service.

BRAWLEY, June 18.—Two men fighting in a Japanese restaurant at 1 o'clock this morning started a fire here which threatened to destroy the business district of the cantaloupe capital of Southern California. One life was lost, two El Centro firemen were seriously burned and approximately a half million dollars in losses were reported by property owners as an investigation started this afternoon.

The Dunlack hotel, the Asahi rooming house and seven other business establishments, including two pool halls, a haberdashery, barber shop, real estate and vegetable shippers' offices, and a general merchandise stock of the Asahi company were destroyed.

Guests Driven Out

More than 200 guests of the hotel and rooming house fled from their second-story sleeping quarters as the fire spread through the tinderbox construction. Arthur Vogelman, a fireman, lost his life when the concrete walls of the Dunlack toppled over and crushed him beneath the debris. He leaves a wife and two children.

Volunteers worked with the fire department and calls were sent out to Imperial and El Centro for the assistance of their fire-fighting equipment.

Principal Losses

The principal losses are listed this forenoon as follows:

Dunlack hotel, $150,000; Asahi company, $150,000, and George Krueger, $50,000.

Numerous stores and stocks of goods make up the balance of the $500,000 loss.

CONFESSES STARTING FIRE AT HOME

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—A pretty 16-year-old girl, said by officers to be a moron, today voluntarily confessed that she started the horrible fire which burned the Hope Development home at Playa del Rey to the ground and snuffed out the lives of twenty-three girl inmates and a matron. The girl, Josephine Barthel, one of the girls who was kept in the home for mentally deficient children, told District Attorney Asa Keyes that she set the "fire trap" building in flames because she "didn't like the place or the matrons and wanted to get away."

C. C. BOARD SEEKS FIRECRACKER BAN

Will Ask City Council to Forbid Sales as Fire Menace to City

ent shortage, as already told in yesterday's issue of The Glendale Evening News.

President W. E. Hewitt was appointed by the Chamber of Commerce as its representative on the committee of citizens that will be appointed by the City Council to scrutinize any project that calls for the issue of bonds by the city.

This committee will meet on Wednesday, June 25, at 9 a. m., according to a letter received by the board from V. B. Stone, city manager.

Te board endorsed the proposed library bond issue for $47,000.

Welcome to Engineers

Plans to welcome the members of the American Society of Civil Engineers, who are holding their annual convention at Pasadena, on their way through Glendale tomorrow en route to Culver City, were announced by Secretary E. F. Sanders, who stated that representatives of every official and civic organization have been invited to meet the caravan at the eastern limits of the city at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon and to join in escorting the visitors through the city. A brief speech of welcome will be made by Mayor Spencer Robinson and the High school band will render a short program.

Dr. C. M. Conkling, 111 East Broadway, reported on the meeting that was held in the City club, Los Angeles, to advocate the establishment of additional county hospitals at various points throughout the county, rather than expend the balance of the $5,000,000 hospital bond issue on enlarging the present county hospital. No definite action was taken at the meeting, Dr. Conkling reported, although it was tentatively suggested that additional county hospitals be located at points in the San Fernando valley, the San Gabriel valley, Long Beach and Santa Monica, where it would be possible to care for indigent patients and where it would be possible to rush persons who were critically ill without making the long trip from outlying portions of the county to the present hospital.

Summer School

Secretary E. F. Sanders was authorized to attend the summer school for commercial secretaries that will be held at Stanford university for a week, beginning July 26. President Hewitt also plans to attend the school on the day set apart as presidents' day.

The board endorsed the action of the board of control in voting to pay Charles R. Stewart $250 in full for his work in preparing the advertisements for the campaign that Glendale is starting this week.

Discovery of America cost $7,250, say recent investigators.

BROCKWAY TELLS OF HUGE BRITISH EMPIRE EXHIBIT

Glendalian Writes of Trip Through Capitals of Old World Nations

A vivid picture of the great British exposition at Wembley park, London, is given by Henry E. Brockway of the Harrower laboratory, 920 East Broadway, in a letter from Walton-on-Thames, England, ddressed to The Glendale Evening News.

"London just now is daily thronged with visitors from all parts of the Empire," he writes, "including a large quota from North America. The multitudinous pavilions are most creditably fitted up and reflect great credit on those entrusted with the arrangements.

Modeled In Butter

"In one of these pavilions is a model of the ranch in Canada where the Prince of Wales resides while on your continent, together with a bust of himself, all in butter!

"A very fine issue of rectangular postage stamps has been put out to commemorate the exposition. The French government has done likewise, in honor of the forthcoming Olympic games.

"Following a tedious and unpleasant winter that lasted practically six months, spring has at last come to London and the weather is quite lovely, with frequent rains and some thunder storms. The plants and trees now have their beautiful spring attire and the thrushes and other denizens of the woods are vying with one another in melody-making.

Visits Old Palaces

"Paris, too, is enjoying delightful weather. The writer recently had the privilege of visiting the former royal palaces at Fontainebleau and Versailles. By some the former are regarded as of greater historical interest than the latter. The Pantheon, the Louvre and St. Denis cathedral are likewise well worthy of attention.

"The writer was also privileged recently to visit in Paris what used to be called the Morgue, now known by the more dignified title of 'Institut Medico Legal de Paris,' Professor Balthazard being in charge. The Bertillon system of fingerprint measurement was explained in detail. An ingenious contrivance for the identification of bullets was also demonstrated.

"The traffic problem in Paris is becoming acute, police control of many parts of the city leaving much to be desired. Places where bombs and shells fell during the war are indicated by commemorative plates."

Owners Recover Lost Wheels; One Is Left

All but one of the bicycles at the City Hall have been claimed by their owners, as a result of the item in The Glendale Evening News of Monday, June 16, reports Desk Sergeant S. C. Hamilton of the police department.

The remaining wheel is a "Western" and was picked up June 6 near the Seventh-day Adventist church. It has a wire basket attached to the front, under the handle-bars. The owner will oblige the department if he will call and claim his property.

GRADUATES MEET AT FINAL DINNER AS SCHOOL ENDS

Senior Class Members Plant Ivy; Popular Student Wields Trowel

Nearly the entire graduating class of the Glendale Union High school gathered in the cafeteria of the Broadway plant yesterday evening for the annual senior banquet at which the seniors meet to review the accomplishments of their four years in High school and meet as a class for the final time before graduation.

Preceding the banquet the class assembled for the planting of the ivy in front of the science building, where Gwenllian Warner had the honor of wielding the trowel, chosen from among her classmates as the one who has done the most for the good of the class throughout the year.

Program of Speeches

The seniors then proceeded to the cafeteria which had been charmingly decorated for the occasion by Mary Stanley and her committee.

After the three-course dinner served by the domestic science classes a program of speeches by prominent members of the class was run through. Theodore Haig, class president, expressed his appreciation for the co-operation of the class during the year, and introduced Glenn Roberts who acted as toastmaster for the occasion.

Urges Organization

Howard Elliott made a brief talk on the prospects for the future, emphasizng the importance of organizing as alumni. Paul Cunningham, secretary of debating; Ronald West, former president, and Harold Brewster of the faculty made short talks. Margaret Longley, editor of the "Stylus," presented Earl T. Brown and Will Baillard, the class teachers, with copies of the annual.

Principal and Mrs. George U. Moyse were present, and in the closing speech Mrs. Moyse offered her congratulations to the graduates on the completion of their work and extended best wishes for the future. Entertainment was furnished by the senior jazz orchestra and by Irvin Carver, who delighted with solo numbers.

Pacoima Canyon Dam Bids Will Be Asked

James W. Reagan, county flood control engineer, will ask the Board of Supervisors to advertise for bids for the construction of the Pacoima Canyon dam within the next two weeks, Mr. Reagan has informed members of the board of directors of the Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce.

The plans have been finished since December, 1920, and will remain the same except for slight changes in the specifications. Mr. Reagan told the Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce.

The dam will be constructed at a cost estimated at $1,750,000. A part of the $35,000,000 recently voted for flood control work will be used.

Mr. Reagan will discuss flood control work before the board of directors of the Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce Thursday noon, June 19, at the Clark hotel. An invitation has been extended to the membership of the Chamber of Commerce to attend the luncheon meeting.

Pearl Keller's Pupils In Convention Program

Retail grocers meeting in convention in Los Angeles, were delightfully entertained by Glendale talent yesterday morning in the session at the Biltmore hotel, where a group of pupils of the Pearl Keller School of Dancing and Dramatic Art appeared.

The "Sunkist" sketch that proved such a feature at the recent Keller recital was presented by the Hunt Sisters, assisted by Cecilia Mae Fischer, Gertrude Muske, Ina Claire Fletcher, Glenn Hitchcock, Julia Pelley, Helen Orr and little Ruth Ann Green.

Julia Pelley, another talented Keller pupil, gave three dances yesterday afternoon at a reception at the home of Mrs. J. Jerome Canavan at 1004 Beverly drive, Beverly Hills, for the Daughters of the American Revolution. She appeared in Indian, oriental and scarf dances. Mrs. Helen McDade, also of Glendale, gave vocal numbers.

Mrs. Finney introduced Mrs. John Ogle, president-elect, who spoke of the coming year and urged all parents to heartily support the library bond election in July and the school bond election in September. She stressed the importance of the Reading Circle and the Parent-Teacher association programs in the growth of the school.

Tuesday Afternoon Club Installs Officers, Hears Reports on Year's Work

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

"Change, growth and development" were the words stressed yesterday by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, and life member of the Tuesday Afternoon club, in her installation of the officers elect of the Tuesday Afternoon club for the year 1924-1925.

There were over 300 club members and guests gathered for the annual luncheon, and this number was greatly augmented for the installation and program in the afternoon.

Capable Leader

Regret and happiness were mingled emotions of the club members, regret because of the retirement from office of Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who has proven herself an outstanding personality and capable leader in two of the outstanding years of the club's history; and happiness because in the words of Mrs. Toll, "Change means growth and development and realization of bigger and better things."

At the luncheon Mrs. Toll, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Montgomery, a group of past presidents, members of the retiring board, members of the newly elected board and a group of guests were seated at the honor table.

Included in the company were three delegates to the recent biennial convention, one from Sydney, Australia, one from Idaho and another from Rhode Island.

Submit Reports

Harp music by Mrs. Enona Hopkins was enjoyed and later a group of committee chairmen, who had not yet submitted their annual reports, were named by Mrs. Campbell and several of them gave reports.

Mrs. C. J. Newcomb as historian of the club, stated that during her term in office she has made a collection of every year book published by the club, from the time of incorporation in 1904 to the present.

Most noteworthy was the report given by Mrs. Thomas Hudson, chairman of philanthropy. Her report was in detail, showing continued activity throughout the year. She stated that the club has contributed to each of the seventeen charities listed in the year book. Of the $350 annual budget, $205 was used.

Treasury Balance

Other outstanding reports were given by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means, who has raised during the year $8,521.59; and Mrs. M. E. Plasterer, treasurer, who reported a balance in the treasury of $2,765-.81, with which to carry on club affairs during the summer months.

Mrs. Campbell's message to the club members was delightfully informal. During her regime the building of the new clubhouse was begun and completed and the clubhouse furnished and formally opened. In no small measure the success of these projects is due to her influence as a leader and ability as an executive.

In speaking of some of the accomplishments of the year Mrs. Campbell spoke with pride of the philanthropic work the club has accomplished; of the life membership taken out in Rest Haven, a home for women; of the remarkable work of the ways and means committee; of the payment of $5000 on the $50,000 debt to L. C. Brand ;of the sound financial basis on which the club now stands; of the splendid balance in the treasury; and of the signing of the lease from the fall of 1924 to June, 1925, with the Florence Dobinson players for the clubhouse auditorium at $400 a month.

Makes Presentation

Just before the luncheon company disbanded Mrs. Sallie Braden, on behalf of Glen Eyrie chapter, O. E. S., of which Mrs. Campbell is a past worthy matron, presented Mrs. Campbell with a basket of lovely flowers.

At the afternoon meeting Mrs. C. W. Houston, on behalf of the club members, presented Mrs. Campbell with another basket of beautiful California blooms.

The installation of the officers was most impressive. After an

CLUB'S FINANCIAL EFFORT OUTLINED

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery Gives Report on Year's Work in Organization

Convincing proof of the title "financial wizard," applied by California clubwomen to Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, for the past two years first vice-president and chairman of ways and means, and now president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, was given yesterday, when Mrs. Montgomery presented her annual report to the club, showing that she has raised a total of $8,521.59.

Included in her report was the following detailed statement, showing the amount her committee turned into the club treasury each month: July, 1923, $721.59; October 2, $400; October 30, $600; November 30, $3,500; December 19, $200; January 22, 1924, $400; February 12, $300; February 19, $200; March 10, $400; April 15, $400; June 3, $1,000; June 16, $400.

Expresses Thanks

Her report read further: "The chairman of ways and means submits the following report with sincere appreciation to the splendid men and women who have, by their patronage, gifts, or by service, made this a banner year in the history of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

"To the curators of departments and chairmen of committees who, in conjunction with the departments and curators, have given such efficient service in every undertaking all through the year, the chairman of ways and means is at a loss for words in which to express her thanks and appreciation.

"We wish especially to thank Mrs. Homer Lockwood for her unfailing co-operation. Special thanks are due the merchants of Glendale who have been most generous whenever called upon.

Thanks The News

"To Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brand, who so generously gave us the grounds of their beautiful home for our garden fete, we extend sincere thanks. We wish to thank Mrs. Pearl Keller for many courtesies during the year and for the wonderful program for the garden fete.

"We also wish to thank The Glendale Evening News for its unfailing courtesy and splendid publicity given us all through the year.

"We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the individual club members and to the executive board of the club for their loyalty and co-operation."

C. C. DIRECTORS TO ASK BAN ON FIREWORKS SALE

Fire Menace to Glendale In Present Dry Season Is Cause for Action

A request that the sale of firecrackers be prohibited in Glendale will be presented to the City Council by the Chamber of Commerce in an effort to minimize the fire menace that accompanies the promiscuous shooting of fireworks around the Fourth of July, according to a decision reached at last night's meeting of the board of directors.

The present city ordinance, it was stated, forbids the shooting of firecrackers but permits their sale, and the action of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce is taken to prevent the distribution of fireworks during the present dry season.

Following a report by Director P. J. Hayselden in which he stated that the average number of forest fires in this region is four a day, according to figures furnished him by Stuart J. Flintham, county forester, the board appointed Mr. Hayselden as a member of the committee in charge of the organization of a Glendale branch of the Angelus Forest Protective association, to assist W. J. Curren, chairman, and decided to request the City Council to detail a number of firemen to supervise the burning of the dry weeds that cover so many vacant lots in the city and that constitute such a menace to the safety of Glendale.

Ask School Help

The principals of the Glendale schools will be asked to bring before the pupils the danger from fires between now and the closing of the schools on Friday, in an effort to enlist the assistance of the students in combatting the danger.

The board endorsed the action of Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production, in requesting Glendale merchants and residents to economize in the use of electricity during the pres-

PEACE AT ANY PRICE?

During the war we dared not be pacifists, we feared to utter a word against war lest we should be branded as "disloyal" and "pro-German." Now that the war is over we are frowned upon unless we declare for peace at any price.

Surely we do not want war, but is that a guarantee that there will be no more war? War is born of greed and jealousy and hate, and as long as men experience these emotions there will be war. Total disarmament cannot change human nature. Non-resistance can prevent war, but it cannot prevent conquest.

All honor to those who are working for world peace! May God speed their efforts! But is it not dangerous to assume that any human agency can positively prevent war? Isn't it safer to admit the possibility of war while we are working for peace? The Peace Plan as outlined by the Christian Science Monitor assumes that there may be another war, although the plan itself would tend to prevent war.

A well-known writer, Mrs. Honore Willsie Morrow, has an article in the current number of the Delineator that every man and woman should read. Mrs. Morrow tells "Why I'm raising my boy to be a soldier." Above all people mothers are and should be against war. But that is no reason why boys should not be trained to be men, to take a man's part in whatever life has in store for them, to have manhood enough to defend their homes if need be. Mrs. Morrow says:

"I shall teach him that greed and cruelty are as static qualities in the world as are air and land and water. I shall teach him that there is a periodicity in the accumulating of greed and cruelty that is as regular as any other recurrency in nature. That this accumulation expresses itself first in hoarded wealth within the nation and then in predatory war without the nation. And this has happened as persistently and with as calculable regularity as the return of the seasons or the swinging of a comet across the ages. I shall show him that within the written history of man there has been no modification of man's essential nature, and we can expect none until after measureless time shall by imperceptible degrees have wrought us into something higher.

"I shall try to make him see war as I see it—as a delirium of horror; a delirium that has its moments of ecstasy and its aftermath of disillusion, cynicism and moral collapse. And I shall try to make him see that when this inevitable delirium beclouds his own country he must be fit to fight, fit to do his share of quelling the maniacs who threaten the stability of his hearthstone. And if I shall discover that he has imbibed the prevalent poisonous doctrine that no hearthstone is worth the shedding of human blood, I shall show him from every angle at my command that the ultimate zest of life itself, the only final significance there is to living, is in the founding and maintaining of the hearthstone, and that the nation is only the welding of myriad hearthstones for the common good."

BUILT UPON SOLID FOUNDATION

Southern California, and particularly the Los Angeles section, has earned a wide reputation for "boosting"; but at the same time this section has had the foresight to prepare a solid foundation for the results that were certain to follow, in the way of population influx.

Recently more than $30,000,000 were voted for improvements in the educational plant of the city, and millions upon millions have been poured out for water and flood control systems, municipal institutions and public highways. The latest movement to solidify the foundation on which the prosperity of Southern California is being reared is the Greater Los Angeles "Keep the White Spot White" association, a movement which has for its aim the bringing here of essential industries that will make this section productively independent and provide an adequate payroll for the ever-increasing population.

Climate, everyone concedes, is ours. We have the natural beauty and the strategic location. It is logical that we should boost when we have all these unquestionable advantages. But we don't talk "hot air." We keep digging into our pocketbooks to supply the facts to back up our arguments.

And what are some of these facts? Estimated increase in assessed valuations this year over last reaches the great sum of $257,000,000, bringing the total of property valuations within Los Angeles county to $2,250,000,000 by the end of 1924, according to reliable estimate. A total of 125,000 buildings were constructed within the county during 1923, and the sale of 84,800 parcels of land was recorded.

That not only shows what we are doing, but refutes the lying argument that the sale of lots is out of all proportion to the amount of construction. On the contrary, the reverse is the case. It is well to know these things and be able to answer the fallacious arguments of the knockers.

LAWLESS INVOKE THE LAW

Out of the fifty "wobblies" who claim to have been mistreated by a mob at the harbor recently because they took the Mississippi disaster as a joke, only two were native Americans, and five were naturalized citizens. Some of them talked so brokenly that the police to whom they were making their complaints could scarcely understand them. These anarchists would tear down and destroy the government and every institution which makes life worth living, yet they are not above invoking the aid of the law and the government which they hate.

Mob rule is never right and is to be condemned always, yet there is a certain sort of justice, after all, in dealing lawlessly with those who do not believe in law, and they are illogical in the extreme when they ask protection from the police.

This country has been the Mecca for a good many years for this sort of scum who do not believe in anything and to whom nothing is sacred. It has been customary for some of the southern countries of Europe to give their criminals the choice of going to jail or going to America, so it is to be expected that we should have organizations like the one that is active at the harbor. The immigration law just passed will keep down their numbers and hamper their activities to a certain extent.

To see only vulgarity in the problems of sex is morbid perversion and to shirk such problems on the ground of "delicacy" is prudish.

"It's a wise mother who knows her own son," said the cannon cracker as it exploded in Willie's hand.

NAME YOUR OWN ODDS

Afraid to Do Too Much

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The average man is afraid to do too much.

That is the reason he is average.

If he wanted to do more than he was paid for he would be an exceptional man.

It is the exceptional man who is in demand.

It is a rule of human conduct, as well as a test of entry into life, whatever that may be:

"Broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be that go therein."

It is easy enough to do what is expected of us, but it is difficult to find the person who will do it.

Most people soldier on the job.

"Creation's cry goes up
From age to cheated age:
Give us the men who do the work
For which they get the wage."

The demand is not for unusual men, for geniuses, nor for men of extraordinary ability. The demand is simply for men who will do what they are paid for doing.

And the demand exceeds the supply. Whoever will make it a rule to do just a little more than he is expected to do is on the sure way to success. Whoever makes it a rule simply to "get by," or to do as little as possible, is on the way to mediocrity.

I know a great many employers of labor. I do not know any who is not constantly harassed by the difficulty of finding good help. I know of a great many laborers. But I do not know of anyone, who is satisfied and happy, who is not doing all he can. And I do not know of anyone who is dissatisfied and a maker of trouble who is not doing as little as he can.

Work seems to be the universal panacea. It not only smooths things out between employers and employes, but it helps things between employes themselves.

It is difficult to restrain the inferiority complex and it is as difficult to restrain the superiority complex. There are laborers who are angry with the boss because he makes more money. And there are bosses that are angry with the laborers because they make so much.

There is a simple and sure test for this matter. It is the test of honesty and fidelity.

Is any man, be he boss or laborer, doing his stunt as he should do it? In that case he is worth the price he gets and more.

Worth While Verse

EBB AND FLOW

I walked beside the evening sea,
And dreamed a dream that could not be;
The waves that plunged along the shore
Said only—"Dreamer, dream no more!"

But still the legions charged the beach;
Loud rang their battle-cry, like speech;
But changed was the imperial strain:
It murmured—"Dreamer, dream again!"

I homeward turned from out the gloom,—
That sound I heard not in my room;
But suddenly a sound, that stirred
Within my very breast, I heard.

It was my heart, that like a sea
Within my breast beat ceaselessly;
But like the waves along the shore,
It said—"Dream on!" and "Dream no more!"

Good Old Days, Then And Now

Woman's status and her work, both in the home and outside, have undergone a complete transformation in the past thirty years. No woman should want to go back to the good old days. American women have discarded the veil in the last generation, just as truly as have the women of Turkey. They have become citizens.

A generation ago, a convention of clubwomen such as was held recently in Los Angeles could not have taken place. There were clubs then, of course, but they were in their infancy and their accomplishments were inconsiderable. There were a few outstanding women, such as Susan B. Anthony and Frances Willard and their associates; there were professional women — doctors and writers—but they were the exception. Teaching school was about the only occupation open to girls of ordinary attainments.

Today a woman adopts any occupation or takes up any profession as a matter of course. Today women have a place in government affairs. They haven't purified politics as we had hoped they would, but they have proved they can play the game as ably as the men. No avenue of endeavor is closed to women today and they are to be found in a thousand different occupations.

And the woman in the home! Thirty years ago she did all of her own housework, or perhaps she had a "hired girl" to assist her. In either case, she worked from dawn until dark. Many of the homes of that period were without plumbing or other conveniences. Some of the houses must have been planned and built with the idea of making as much work for the housekeeper as possible. Electrical appliances were unknown. Electric lights were not in general use; neither were heating furnaces of any kind, and fuel had to be carried in and ashes out.

The house of today is built with convenience in mind. There is a furnace in the basement, hot and cold water, electric lights. The housewife or her maid runs the vacuum cleaner over the rug instead of sweeping the unsanitary carpet with a broom; she does her laundry in an electric machine, she irons, sews and perhaps cooks with electricity. At noon she puts her meat and vegetables for dinner in the fireless cooker and her salad and dessert in the ice box, and has the afternoon for rest and recreation.

It is not necessary for the housewife of today to rise before daylight and work long after dark to attend to the needs of her home and family. There is no need for the woman to marry for a home, as many did in the old days, for almost any career she wishes is open to her. There is no need today for the woman of thirty to accept her fate as an "old maid" and seek seclusion befitting old age. The woman of today has the opportunity to live her life fully and freely and she should have no desire to go back to the "good old days."

When the roars of wild animals of an American circus at feeding time were heard in England this spring, the broadcasting authorities thought the noises were "atmospheres," and did not relay them.

Senior Class Plans For Farewell Dance

Bringing to a close the many events of commencement week, the farewell dance will be given by the senior class of the Glendale High school to the pupils and alumni on Friday night in the girls' gymnasium, at the Harvard street school. None outside the student body will be permitted to attend, except graduates.

Committees have completed arrangements for the affair and the dance promises to be one of the most successful of the year. The chairman of committees are as follows: Invitations, Mary Stanley; decorations, Marie Hearnshaw; floor, Angelo Brucker; refreshments, Katherine Guthrie; programs, Emma Laura Cooper; reception, Lena Walker; entertainment, Evalyn Hunt.

Moqui, or Hopi, a tribe of Pueblo Indians living near the boundary line between Arizona and New Mexico, cultivate principally corn, beans and pumpkins.

Reduced Tax Payment Passes 1923 Figures

In the face of a reduction of one-half of June income tax payments allowed individual income taxpayers under the new revenue act, the collection of the June installment totaled $8,772,196.10, Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell announced today.

The deductions allowed on the June installment amounted to approximately $3,500,000. With this handicap to overcome, the receipts from June 1 to 16 amounted to $8,772,196.10, compared with $8,756,116.92 for the corresponding period of last year, when the taxpayers paid the full installment, and not half of it, as was the rule this year.

For the fiscal year up to June 16, income receipts were $42,021,746.41, as against $37,155,038.75 for the same period of last year.

Economizing Power
Go Light On Lights
The Shoppers' Guide
Prosperity Assured

By Gil A. Cowan

A full moon dispelled the Stygian darkness of Glendale streets last night in the first chapter of electrical economy being practiced here.

While some of the business people did not have their signs dark, there is a general disposition on the part of all southern California to conserve light from the water power supplies in order that industry may be maintained.

A 25 per cent reduction in the consumption of electrical energy is a large problem, and it may be that all unnecessary lighting will be taboo.

Householders can do their share by turning off lights as soon as their use becomes waste.

In lieu of window shopping in the evenings, people who stay at home will find local merchants advertising their wares in the columns of The Glendale Evening News.

Also, you will find good entertainment in the columns of this paper, if you pardon justifiable pride in the several features which are printed daily.

Clean comic pictures, such as Uncle Wiggily's adventures for the little tots, "Cap Stubbs" for the boys and girls and "The Baxter Beasleys" for the grown-ups, and "Graham Crackers," an inimitable column of snappy sayings, should keep you in good humor these lightless nights.

In addition there are more meaty features by the best of writters which make this a complete newspaper.

If you follow the markets which reflect, or rather forecast, economic conditions, you will agree with the Pasadena Star-News editor in that prosperity is assured: He says:

"Harvesting one of the most fortuitous wheat crops in the history of the great southwest is in full swing today. Given two weeks of fairly good working weather, and the farmers face the almost definite certainty of clearing up their enormous indebtedness, which has been a burden for the past few years, while the bankers of the agricultural sections see a brilliant opportunity of regaining the sound financial status they enjoyed before the gloomy days of depression set in, shortly after the resumption of peace.

"While wheat acreage in the great growing states of the southwest is reported about 20 per cent smaller than last year, the crop is expected to be much greater, owing to the excellent maturing conditions during the growing period.

"Neither does the present low scale of prices carry much fear for the farmer, for the heavy yield on the lighter area sown will more than take care of the difference between last and this years' prices.

"The Texas cotton planter is in a rapidly improving financial condition, while the wheat crop in that state, a bumper one, is already garnered and in storage. Oklahoma is a bee hive of harvesting today. A yield of 7,000,000 bushels greater than in 1923 is reported. In Kansas, the fields are groaning with wealth, ripe for the reapers. It is said that 10,000,000 acres will produce an average of thirteen bushels to the acre this year."

BOARD SEEKS TO FIX BLAST BLAME

Dying Gun Captain Believed To Hold Solution of Turret Explosion

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—Final effort to fix the blame for the explosion on the U. S. S. Mississippi, which killed forty-eight bluejackets, was made today when the naval board of inquiry probing the disaster went aboard the hospital ship Relief to take a death bed statement from C. F. Rynes, captain of turret No. 2, where the blast occurred.

Rynes, fearfully burned in the accident, was reported rapidly sinking today. The dying gun captain is believed to hold the key to the solution of the death-dealing explosion, for he was closest to the big 14-inch gun when it blasted the turret. Yesterday the navy board officers visited Rynes but he was too ill to be questioned.

British Request for Apology Is Rejected

LONDON, June 18. — Premier Macdonald's offer to withdraw P. A. C. Cummins as British charge d'affaires to Mexico, if the Mexican government would apologize to him for ordering him expelled, has been flatly refused by the Obregon government, it was learned at the foreign office this afternoon.

Premier Macdonald offered to send Sir Thomas Hohler to Mexico to compose the differences between the British representative and the Mexican foreign office.

Sincere thanks were expressed this morning by Mrs. Ballagh to the city of Glendale, which, through Councilman S. S. Gilhuly, furnished the lighting and draying; to the board of education, which, through Principal George U. Moyse, furnished the grounds, the chairs and dishes; to the Fox-Woodsum Lumber company, who furnished wood for the platform and booths; to the Calla Lily creamery for cream; to the Crescent creamery for butter; to the Casa Verdugo Methodist church for chairs; to Fred Watrin of Burbank for signs; to Mrs. Alexander Mitchell and Mrs. John W. Cotton for the program arranged; to Keaumoka Lewis, Viola Yorba, Milford C. Jackson, Barbara Mitchell, Julia Pelley, Elinor Marek, Elizabeth Hoffman, Joseph Phoenix, Mrs. J. H. PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The park commissioners are considering a proposal to build a stadium in Fairmount Park which would seat 150,000 persons and cost $4,000,000.

FACULTY MEMBER FAVORS NOMINEE

Cousin of Col. Dawes Finds G. O. P. Vice-Presidential Choice Pleasing

EAGLE ROCK, June 18.—Dr. John C. Shedd, professor of physics at Occidental college, is mighty well pleased with the choice of vice-presidential nominee made by the Republican national convention at Cleveland—for "Charlie" G. Dawes is his first cousin and close friend.

In youth the two boys saw little of each other. Mr. Dawes was born in Marietta, O., August 27, 1865, and Dr. Shedd was born four years later in Persia, where his father, Rev. John H. Shedd, was a missionary of the Presbyterian church from 1858 to 1895.

Not until Dr. Shedd came to the United States to complete his education did the two young men meet. But with the first meeting a close bond of understanding and sympathy sprung up, and there is no man in the United States prouder today of General Dawes' achievements than Dr. Shedd.

The Occidental professor's political relationships do not end here, however. His brother, William H. Shedd, married a sister of Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy, and Dr. Shedd has long been a personal friend of the former Chief Justice of California who stepped from the highest judicial office of this state into President Coolidge's cabinet.

Want New School

Residents and real estate men of Eagle Rock are all urged, in the next few weeks, to push for the new high school promised this district by the Los Angeles school authorities. Since the first plans were laid for a high school it has been expected that this would eventually become a realization somewhere in the York boulevard district, probably near Glassell.

Miss Helen Pratt, of Ridgeview avenue, will give an illustrated talk tonight on the "Birds of Eagle Rock," in the social hall of the Congregational church at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Worthwhile class. There will also be music, instrumental, vocal and whistling. Everyone is invited.

VERDUGO LEGION PLANS BIG MEET

Twenty New Members to Be Initiated Tonight at Sparr Heights

MONTROSE, June 18.—Members of Verdugo Hills post, No. 288, American Legion, expect to add twenty more men to their ranks tonight. The new members will be initiated in proper style by the "Murder Crew" of San Pedro post, furnished by Commander Nix of the seaport town.

The San Pedro visitors are to be met in Glendale at the Glendale post hall, 610 East Broadway, at 7:30 p. m., and paraded through Glendale to the Sparr Heights community house, where the ceremonies are to take place at 8 o'clock. All posts in the county have been invited to bring their candidates and join in the celebration. Candidates are required to wear overalls for the occasion.

After the initiation work a buffet supper will be served the visitors and members, the members of the Auxiliary preparing the sandwiches and cakes that will be served.

TRAFFIC BEACON WILL BE ERECTED

First of Ten Street Lights Will Be Installed In Next Two Weeks

The first of ten traffic beacons to be installed at important Glendale street intersections will go in within two weeks, according to written notification received this morning by City Manager Virgil B. Stone from the Pacific Highway Light corporation.

The letter confirmed the verbal agreement between the corporation and the city, whereby the clause in the contract charging $30 per year per beacon, for maintenance, is canceled. This will net a saving of $300 per year, Mr. Stone states.

The beacons will be mounted on concrete bases and the corporation has agreed to paint the names of the streets on each, making it easy for motorists to find their way about the city. The illumination of these beacons is furnished by acetylene gas and the entire device is automatic. Inspection will be maintained at frequent intervals.

The Case of Jennie Brice — Serial Story

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART. Copyright, 1924.

XXI—THE ARREST

Mr. Ladley was taken away at nine o'clock. He was perfectly cool, and asked me to help him pack a suit case, and whistled while it was being done. He requested to be allowed to walk to the jail, and went quietly, with a detective on one side and I think a sheriff's officer on the other.

Just before he left, he asked for a word or two with me, and when he paid his bill up to date, and gave me an extra dollar for taking care of Peter, I was almost overcome. He took the manuscript of his play with him, and I remember his asking if he could have any typing done in the jail. I have never seen a man arrested for murder before, but I think he was probably the coolest suspect the officers had ever seen. They hardly knew what to make of it.

Mr. Reynolds and I had a cup of tea after all the excitement, and were sitting at the dining-room table drinking it, when the bell rang. It was Mr. Howell! He half staggered into the hall when I opened the door, and was for going into the parlor bedroom without a word.

"Mr. Ladley's gone, if you want him," I said. I thought his face cleared.

"Gone!" he said. "Where?"

"To jail."

He did not reply at once. He stood there, tapping the palm of one hand with the forefinger of the other. He was dirty and unshaven. His clothes looked as if he had been sleeping in them.

"So they've got him!" he muttered finally, and turning, was about to go out the front door without another word, but I caught his arm.

"You're sick, Mr. Howell," I said. "You'd better not go out just yet."

"Oh, I'm all right." He took his handkerchief out and wiped his face. I saw that his hands were shaking.

"Come back and have a cup of tea, and a slice of home-made bread."

He hesitated and looked at his watch. "I'll do it, Mrs. Pitman," he said. "I suppose I'd better throw a little fuel into this engine of mine. It's been going hard for several days."

He ate like a wolf. I cut half a loaf into slices for him, and he drank the rest of the tea. Mr. Reynolds creaked up to bed and left him still eating, and me still cutting and spreading. Now that I had a chance to see him, I was shocked. The rims of his eyes were red, his collar was black, and his hair hung over his forehead. But when he finally sat back and looked at me, his color was better.

"So they've canned him!" he said.

"Time enough too," said I.

He leaned forward and put both his elbows on the table. "Mrs. Pitman," he said earnestly, "I don't like him any more than you do. But he never killed that woman."

"Somebody killed her."

"How do you know? How do you know she is dead?"

Well, I didn't of course—I only felt it.

"The police haven't even proved a crime. They can't hold a man for a supposititious murder."

"Perhaps they can't but they're doing it," I retorted. "If the woman's alive, she won't let him hang."

"I'm not so sure of that," he said heavily, and got up. He looked in the little mirror over the sideboard, and brushed his hair. "I look bad enough," he said, "but I feel worse. Well, you've saved my life, Mrs. Pitman. Thank you."

"How is my—how is Miss Harvey?" I asked, as he started out. He turned and smiled at me in his boyish way.

"The best ever!" he said. "I haven't seen her for days, and it seems like centuries. She—she is the only girl in the world for me, Mrs. Pitman, although I—" He stopped and drew a long breath. "She is very beautiful, isn't she?"

"Very beautiful," I answered. "Her mother was always—"

"Her mother." He looked at me curiously.

"I knew her mother years ago," I said, putting the best face on my mistake that I could.

"Then I'll remember you to her, if she ever allows me to see her again. Just now I'm persona non grata."

"If you'll do the kindly thing, Mr. Howell," I said, "you'll forget me to her."

He looked into my eyes and then thrust out his hand.

"All right," he said. "I'll not ask any questions. I guess there are some curious stories hidden in these old houses."

Peter hobbled to the front door with him. He had not gone so far as the parlor once while Mr. Ladley was in the house.

They had had a sale of spring flowers at the store that day, and Mr. Reynolds had brought me a pot of white tulips. That night I hung my mother's picture over the mantel in the dining-room, and put the tulips beneath it. It gave me a feeling of comfort; I had never seen my mother's grave, or put flowers on it.

I have said before that I do not know anything about the law. I believe that the Ladley case was unusual in several ways. Mr. Ladley had once been well known in New York among the people who frequent the theaters, and Jennie Brice was even better known. A good many lawyers, I believe, said that the police had not a leg to stand on, and I know the case was watched with much interest by the legal profession. People wrote letters to the newspapers, protesting against Mr. Ladley being held. And I believe that the district attorney, in taking him before the grand jury, hardly hoped to make a case.

But he did, to his own surprise, I fancy, and the trial was set for May. But, to the meantime, many curious things happened.

Plays come and plays go, but "East Is West" continues to be the most popular stage attraction America has seen in many a day. Murphy's Comedians are now presenting this play nightly, in lavish fashion, at their big tent on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, between Brand boulevard and Central avenue.

The curtain rises promptly at 8 o'clock but those who wish to assure themselves of front seats may come any time after 7:15, states Manager J. A. Menard.

The story of "East Is West," as many know, is of an American chap in the Orient, who befriends a little Chinese girl, only to learn later that she is really an American, like himself. Naturally, love is the animating motif of the play, but there is a suave villain who contrives to keep things exciting throughout the performance.

HIRES MAKE-UP WIZARD

When Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, started fulfilling his contract with the Universal Pictures corporation for a series of motion pictures, he looked around Hollywood for a make-up man who was also a champ. He picked Cecil Holland, Mary Pickford's own facial artist and engaged him to fix his "physog" for screening.

STUDIOS BUSY

Samuel Goldwyn is to start "Tarnish" and "Potash and Perlmutter in Hollywood." Edwin Carewe, just back from Africa, is to begin work on "The Ragged Messenger" by June 1. First National is to produce "Single Wives." Counterfeit" is to be directed by John Francis Dillion and "The Lost World" by Harry Hoyt. Frank Lloyd, following "The Sea Hawk," will make another big production as yet untitled.

THE GLENDALE

"The Shooting of Dan McGrew" continues at the Glendale Theate.

THE GATEWAY

Buster Keaton's "Sherlock, Jr." is at the Gateway Theatre.

THE T. D. & L.

TWO STARS IN 'WINE'

Huntley Gordon and Myrtle Stedman, who appeared together in the screen version of "The Famous Mrs. Fair," have two of the featured roles in "Wine."

COULDN'T WRITE

"She sure can act but she admits she couldn't write," says Carmelita Geraghty's press agent. In this respect Carmelita does not take after her dad for Geraghty Sr., familiarly known as "Tom," shakes a wicked pen in scriptdom and has a lot of knockouts chalked up on his literary escutcheon.

While script girl for Marshall Neilan, John Robertson and Chester Franklin, Miss Geraghty tried desperately to "get across" some stories, fiction and scenarios. But nobody paid any attention.

SAMMY HAS KICK

Sunshine Sammy, world famous little comedian and formerly featured player in Hal E. Roach's "Our Gang" comedies, has a complaint to enter. A short while ago Sammy found that he was unable to accept a renewal of his contract with Roach owing to financial differences. So after eight years of almost constant work before the motion picture camera his father, Joseph Morrison, well known candy manufacturer, promised Sammy a good long vacation. Sammy, in his aforesaid complaint, says the following routine hardly constitutes a 'vacation'—"Three to four hours a day study under his special teacher, Miss Zenovia Frierson. One hour violin lesson each day from James B. Warren. Miscellaneous and incidental other hours spent in perfecting himself in fencing, boxing, wrestling and in his 'spare' moments he composed a wonderful waltz, "Sunshine Sammy is a Good Old Scout."

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE LOOKING GLASS

One day, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along the path that led through the woods, he suddenly heard a voice calling to him:

"Come on in! Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Come on in!"

"Hum!" thought Mr. Longears to himself as he looked back over his shoulder. "If that is the Skillery Scallery Alligator inviting me into his den, or the Bob Cat wanting me to play scratch tag with the little Bob Cats, I'm not going to do it. Not if I can hop away!"

The rabbit gentleman gathered his paws together for a quick jump, when the voice called again:

"Come on in, Uncle Wiggily! Come in and play with my doll and me!"

The rabbit gentleman pinkled his twink nose, which is the same as twinkling a pink nose, only backward, and he said:

"That doesn't sound like the voice of any of the bad chaps." Then he looked around and saw Susie Littletail, the rabbit girl, standing in the doorway of a cute little house, waving her paw at him. I mean Susie was waving her paw—not the play house, for a play house hasn't any paw, you know.

"What are you doing there, Susie?" asked Mr. Longears.

"I am having fun in the play house with my doll, Claribell Paregoric," answered the little rabbit girl. "Come on over and see us, please."

So the rabbit gentleman, flopping his ears frontward and backward, hopped across the path and up a little way into the woods, where Susie's father had made her a play house from white birch bark. Very cute and pretty it was, too.

"Wait until I come out, and then you can go in," said Susie. "'Cause my play house isn't large enough for two of us to be in at the same time. I even have to squeeze my doll, Claribell Paregoric, to get her in with me. But then, as she's a rag doll, squeezing doesn't hurt."

"That's good," said Uncle Wiggily. He went in the cute little house, where Susie and her doll played. He saw a tiny little bed for the rag doll, little dishes, chairs, a table and a bureau—all doll size.

"I don't suppose you have a doll's looking glass, have you, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Susie, as the rabbit gentleman hopped out of the play house.

"A doll's looking glass, my dear? Why, no, I haven't anything like that," answered Mr. Longears.

"Oh, dear!" sighed Susie.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, I want, so much, a doll's looking glass, so Claribell Paregoric can see to comb her hair," said Susie. "She has everything but a looking glass. They have lovely ones down at the seven and eight cent store, but mother says I must not spend the money for one. Anyhow, I haven't the money, Uncle Wiggily, but then I'm not allowed to ask you for money. Mother wouldn't like it. Though, of course, if you wanted to buy yourself a doll's looking glass and then if you wanted to give it to me for Claribell Paregoric, I couldn't stop you; could I?" asked Susie. "'Cause—now—you're bigger than I am, Uncle Wiggily."

"Yes, Susie, I am a little bigger," said Uncle Wiggily. "And I would be glad to buy your doll a looking glass, but I think your mother must have a good reason for not wanting you to have one."

"Yes," answered Susie, "she says I have spent all the money I can have this week, and I mustn't ask for any more. But, of course, if you were to give me some—of your own accord, I couldn't stop you; could I?" and she looked at Uncle Wiggily in a queer, teasing way.

"All of a sudden the bunny gentleman glanced at the ground and gave a little jump.

"Susie!" he cried, "if I found a looking glass for your doll, that would do as well; wouldn't it?"

"Oh, of course!" cried Susie. "But where could you find one?"

"Right here!" cried Uncle Wiggily, and from the path he picked up a piece of bright, shining tinfoil that had been on a piece of gum. Uncle Wiggily smoothed out the tinfoil, until there wasn't a wrinkle or a crease in it. Then he wrapped it around a bit a flat birch bark, with a little piece of bark sticking down for a handle.

"There's your doll's looking glass, Susie!" he said, handing it to the little rabbit girl. "And it didn't cost anything."

"Oh, thank you!" cried Susie. "Mother said I ought to learn to make things for myself, instead of always spending money for them. But I never before knew how. Oh, this is a lovely glass! Look at yourself Claribell Paregoric!" And the rag doll looked at herself in the glass and smiled the least little bit.

And then, all of a sudden, the bad Bob Cat came creeping up the hill to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears. But Susie flashed her looking glass of tinfoil in the sun, and the sun shone in the eyes of the Bob Cat and made him sneeze.

"Ker choo! Ker choo! Ker choo!" he sneezed, and he fell down and bumped his nose, and then he ran away. So he didn't nibble the bunny's ears after all.

"Oh, I'm so glad I made him run away," said Susie. Then she combed Claribell Paregoric's hair and let her look in the tinfoil glass again, and after that the rag doll went to sleep.

So if the sponge cake doesn't play tag in the bath tub instead of jumping over the table with the knife and fork. I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily at the spring.

Diet And Health

INSOMNIA—No. III.

Last week I gave you two papers on Insomnia. I will give you a short resume of those papers before going on with the subject.

Of causes of insomnia, after diseases, pains, discomfort, tea, coffee, tobacco, over-eating, under-eating, and the like, are ruled out, the imagining of scenes, disagreeable or pleasurable, past or future, in which you play the star role, take the first pace. To divert your attention and concentration from these scenes, I gave you two methods which I have found effective:

1. Begin with number 999 and count backwards. You can say the number (and visualize it) on deep inspiration, and repeat: "I am going to sleep" on expiration.

2. When you are going to sleep you notice your mental images become distorted and grotesque. Artificially induce that state—think of funny shaped animals or people or other objects. My favorite is a pink elephant with green ribbons on his tail. I start off with him.

If these methods fail with me (and they do occasionally if I take coffee at night) I get up and study or write for three-quarters to an hour. That has not failed me yet.

I have given you three methods of inducing sleep. Now I'll give you something to show you that you need not worry if they don't work! It is from Dr. Boris Sidis' views on sleep as given by the famous psychologist in the American Magazine:

"Sleep is not as important as people think it is. Rest is important! In fact, it is essential. But we do not have to be absolutely unconscious (as we are in the sleep state) in order to rest. The lower animals do not sleep as human beings do. They literally sleep with one eye open, sometimes with both eyes partially open. They prick up their ears at sounds which, in r sleep state, we would not hear. In them, sleep is only a pronounced rest state.

"Therefore, the first thing for you to realize, if you are more or less wakeful, is that it is nothing you have cause to worry about. Moreover, this realization that sleep is not all-important will be a great factor in helping you to sleep. Nine-tenths of your difficulty in going to sleep is due to your fear that you won't go to sleep. And nine-tenths of the bad effects of a sleepless night are not the result of your loss of sleep, but of your worry over it.

"I do not say this in order to delude you into a better frame of mind, one that is favorable to sleep; but because it is physiologically as well as psychologically true! People make a sort of fetish of sleep. They fix upon a certain number of hours which they think they must have in order to be well. Then they measure each night's sleep; and if it is short of the sacred number of hours they are full of worry and fear.

"Don't be impatient for sleep to come. Let it take its time. Don't lie there, saying to yourself, 'It is two o'clock now! I have to get up at seven. If I don't go to sleep right away I won't get even five hours of sleep—and I ought to have eight.'

"If you do pay attention to the time, say to yourself, 'I have been in bed, resting, for several hours already. And I have five hours more in which I can rest. Eight hours of rest! It's wonderful to lie here quietly and to know that I am storing up energy all the time."

This is very interesting and helpful, isn't it? Here are some quotations from the Book of Books, that Dr. Sides might have been inspired by:

"I will lay me down in peace and sleep, for Thou, Lord, only makest me dwell in safety." Ps. 4:8.

"When thou liest down, thou shalt not be afraid: yea, thou shalt lie down and thy sleep shall be sweet." Pr. 3:24.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a.s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

The following canning hints and recipes have been sent me from readers to publish for the help of other housekeepers:

M. H.: "How I Can Asparagus Corn and Spring Beans: I have done quite a little experimenting with canning, with good results. Asparagus is so apt to be soft and unsatisfactory after all the trouble and expense of canning it in the usual way, that I determined to see if all the fuss was necessary. I took asparagus, cut the stalks to proper length to go into a pint-size jar, washed them thoroughly, then packed them tightly in the jar, added one-half teaspoon of salt, filled the jar with boiling water, partially sealed it, and then processed the jar in boiling water by the ordinary cold-pack method. Some I sterilized for 60 minutes, others for 90. I kept these jars one year and then had them opened by a cooking school. Both jars kept equally well, but the teacher at the school said the jars processed 60 minutes were the better. This asparagus was not soft and had a fine flavor.

I never blanch corn now, and find it far better. I also can "horticultural" beans by shelling, washing, putting right in the jar with salt and boiling water, then processing the jar (partially sealed) for 90 minutes; they come out perfectly. String beans I prefer to blanch to take away the strong taste, but shell beans never. I hope these suggestions will help your readers.

Minnie: "My Uncooked Tomato Relish: Scald and peel one-half peck of ripe tomatoes, then chop fine. Also put through the food chopper six green sweet peppers (seeds removed), four large peeled onions and one cup of chopped cabbage; mix these chopped vegetables together then add to them one quart of cider vinegar, two teaspoons of celery seed, one-fourth teaspoon of red pepper, one teaspoon of ground cloves, four teaspoons of yellow mustard seed, one cup of granulated sugar and five tablespoons of salt. Let the mixture stand overnight and next morning pack it into hot, sterilized glass jars (pint size), partially seal, and process under boiling water (130 degrees Fahrenheit, or simmering) for 15 minutes. Completely seal, label and store. This is delicious."

Old Housekeeper: "I always use saltpetre and alum in putting down cucumber pickles—the saltpetre to make them hard and the alum to make them green."

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

MARCELLED HAIR

Waved hair is not always becoming. There are certain types of thoughtful, serious faces, certain spirituelle types, certain small featured, thin faces, that are quite spoiled if the hair is curly. It may be taken as a rule that the slender, oval face looks best in a frame of softly combed, straight hair. Too thin faces, hollow thinness, I mean, look best with waved hair, because the waviness gives broken lines, broken lights and shadows around the face, does away with lines that seem to go only up and down.

Waved Hair Is Not Always Becoming

Properly marcelled hair is soft looking, it falls into long, loose waves. Badly marcelled hair is in short waves, tight, stiff, harsh, detracting rather than adding to the beauty of the face. You must be your own judge as to whether curled hair suits you or not. If it's naturally curly, it probably does; in any case, you can't do anything to destroy its waviness, so you might as well accept it. No one has yet invented a method of permanently straightening curly hair. When we all want to do away with curls, no doubt an electric machine with oil and borax will be invented for removing the waves, whereas now they put them in.

When I was a small child in grammar school, some of my older classmates used to curl their hair on hair pins! I wonder if anyone does that now? I think our present grammar and high school generation is too worldly to resort to hair pins as a means of making curls. What a frizz they used to turn out, too? And what broken hairs and headaches resulted from the process and what frights they were generally!

Waves can be safely made with padded kid curlers, or strips of rag or twists of soft paper, or, if not done too often, by means of a fairly hot iron.

Catherine—Massage your scalp several times a day, which will improve the circulation so your hair will grow as fast as is possible for you. When you enclose a loose stamp instead of a stamped, self-addressed envelope, the stamp may easily drop out of the letter, as yours must have done this time.

B. T. M.—You cannot make your eyes larger, nor your face and hands smaller, but you can make yourself attractive by having a clear skin, free from blackheads, and keep your nails manicured so they will offset the extra size of your hands. If your hands are not white, use any of the honey-almond lotions.

Tomorrow—Beautiful Children

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be asnwered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Reception Is Held at Palmer Home for Pair

Miss Ruth Palmer was the hostess Saturday night at a reception that was tendered to a prospective bride and bridegroom at the Palmer home at 1008 East Colorado boulevard, when over twenty guests were present to congratulate Miss Faith Tarling, 426 South Adams street, and Stanley Walker, 710 East Harvard street, who will be married on Thursday, June 26.

The color scheme was carried out in rose and blue, the attractive decorations including the favors and the refreshments.

The feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome electric percolator to the young couple from their friends, the presentation being made during a game called "Spider's Web," in which the strands of the web that were placed in the hands of Mr. Walker and Miss Tarling led to the gift.

Other games that were played were "The Wedding of the Flowers," in which first prize went to Mrs. Frederick B. Walker and the second to Miss Rose Parker.

In the game, "How to Live Happy, Though Married," Carl Walker won first prize and Francis Read won second prize."

HELEN WILLS DEFEATED IN MATCH AT WIMBLEDON

California Girl's First Singles Played On Foreign Court Goes to Her Opponent as Suzanne Lenglen Watches Play

England's leading woman player. The match was again decided in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Wills' defeat was a surprise. She was plainly nervous as she took the courts against Mrs. Covell, one of the British stars who is considered England's second best woman player. Miss Wills also was suffering from her recent indisposition and was far below her usual form.

Rallied Frequently

Mrs. Covell, on the contrary, was at top form and played a smashing game. The American girl rallied frequently and played hardest when she was behind.

In the second set when the score was 5 to 2, in games, against her, Miss Wills got her game going temporarily and brought the score to 5-4. She lost the game, however, when she drove three brilliant ground shots just a few inches outside the base line.

The English women made it a clean sweep for the day when Mrs. Covell and Miss Sheppard Barron defeated Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup and Miss Eleanor Goss in the doubles, 6-2, 6-2.

Will Watch Play

"I intend to watch the matches in which Miss Wills plays today and tomorrow in order especially to study Miss Wills' style of play," Miss Lenglen said this morning. "I am anxious to get acquainted with her. I anticipate a great game if we meet in the Wimbledon tourney."

Miss Lenglen expressed the hope that the Whitman cup matches would develop into a sort of Davis event for women.

Out for Revenge

"I would be delighted to lead a team of French women," she said, "although I am afraid we wouldn't stand much of a show against a team of American women."

In the other matches today besides the Wills-Covell struggle, Mrs. Molla Mallory will meet Miss McKane and in the doubles, Mrs. Jessup and Miss Goss play Mrs. Covell and Mrs. Shepperd Barron. The British women are keenly anxious to avenge themselves for the crushing defeat they suffered in the United States last year.

Carlocks Take Three Games From Feathers

The Carlocks, standing in second place in the City Bowling league, won three games from the Red Feathers last night at the Recreation alleys. The winners had 28 pins to spare in the opening game, nosed out the Feathers by one pin in the second game, and had seven more than the losers in the third game. Holmes of the losers rolled good games, 199, 222 and 200, total 621.

Woman Hurt as Auto Is Upset at Corner

Mrs. W. B. Stanley of 419 West Colorado boulevard was injured this morning when the light car driven by her husband turned over at the corner of Harvard and Orange streets. At the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital a preliminary examination failed to reveal any broken bones.

Mr. Stanley sustained cuts and abrasions on the arms and body. The cause of the accident was given by the driver as the result of an effort to avoid colliding with another car.

MATCH SOX WITH STARS OF FLEET

Proceeds of Sunday's Game To Aid Relief Fund for Blast Victims

Frank Kerwin, manager of the Glendale White Sox, announced today a picked team representing the Pacific Coast fleet, and made up of the best ball players to be found aboard the various ships, will play the White Sox at San Fernado park next Sunday afternoon in a benefit game, the proceeds to go to the fund being raised for dependents of the men killed by the explosion on the U. S. S. Mississippi.

It was originally planned to have the team from the U. S. S. New Mexico, champions of the Pacific fleet, meet the White Sox here last Saturday, when Baseball Booster Day was held, but, at the last minute, the game was cancelled on account of the tragedy, and the Gilmore Oilers substituted.

While the U. S. S. New Mexico has won the title among fleet teams, the team coming to Glendale next Sunday will represent the entire fleet, as the best men from each ship will be selected, and a more formidable line-up will be presented.

Picking Line-Up

It is expected hundreds of gobs from the fleet will accompany the team to Glendale, to root for the particular players selected from their ship, as well as for the entire team.

Athletic officers of the various ships are in conference today, picking an all-star team from the fleet's crack ball players, and the complete line-up will probably be announced tomorrow or Friday. The White Sox line-up will be the same that turned in eighteen consecutive victories.

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and will take the place of the regular Summer league game for that day.

RACE UNCHANGED

The Giants, Cubs and Dodgers lost no ground yesterday, the Giants defeating the Cards 5 to 3, the Cubs walloping the Phils, 6 to 5, and the Dodgers trimming the Reds, 5 to 4. The Giants' lead is a game and a half in front of the Cubs, who are two games in front of the Dodgers.

Golden eagles can fly more than a mile a minute.

El Segundo Plays Catalina Cubs at Avalon on Sunday

El Segundo will tackle the Catalina Cubs Sunday on the island as a feature attraction of the American Legion picnic, according to word from the island today. The Cubs have won practically every game they have played this season, while El Segundo has made a good showing in the Summer league, standing third with four wins and three defeats. Kenny will be on the mound for the Islanders, while Bell will pitch for El Segundo.

OLYMPIC MEN ON BOARD SHIP BUSY

Coaches Keep Men Training While Traveling; Find Two Stowaways

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP AMERICA, WITH THE AMERICAN OLYMPIC TEAM, June 18 (by radio).—A calm sea and balmy weather gave the American athletes bound for Paris an excellent chance for another workout today, and most of them took advantage of it.

The coaches warned the athletes that they are still candidates for the United States team, and must be perfectly fit when they reach Paris. The men must retire at 10:45 o'clock and get up at 7:30.

Wayne Johnson, Verne Booth, J. E. Lermond and Michael Devaney, distance runners, are keeping their muscles supple by deck jogs.

Find Stowaways

Loren Murchison is not doing much work. He is under weight and wants to fatten up a bit. Joie Ray, Charley Paddock and other sprinters are taking things easy.

Two ambitious athletes who stowed away were found and set at work today. Laton, a hurdler, will be given a chance as an alternate, and F. N. Howka, an old-time walker, was given a place with the crew.

The athletes are entirely pleased with the arrangements on ship board and the morale of the men is excellent. Food and accommodations are fine, adapted to any kind of diet or appetite. Large tanks of sterilized water are being carried for drinking purposes.

TROOP 2 WINNER IN SCOUT EVENTS

Takes Council Cup Second Time With 39 Points; Troop 3 Second

Troop 2, Boy Scouts, headed by Scoutmaster Payne, won first place at the annual athletic event staged Saturday afternoon at the Harvard High school field. The victory this year was the second victory for this troop, as Troop 2 won the cup last year. About eighty scouts participated in the meet.

The winning troop gathered 39 points, or 17 points more than their closest opponents, Troop 3. Troop 12 finished third with 17 points.

The events included fire by friction race, wall scaling, 100-yard dash, one-mile run, rescue race, three-legged race, signaling and Paul Revere race. The cup for first place is donated by the local Scout council and remains in the possession of the winning troop until the meet the following year, when the troop holding it must compete again.

BENJAMIN LOSES IN VERNON FIGHT

Dode Bercott Too Much for King of 138-Pounders; Rivers Is Victor

Joe Benjamin, long hailed as the king of the 138pounders along the coast, had the crown knocked off his head last night at Doyle's Vernon arena by Dode "Bearcat" Bercott. Spectators declared the bout was a thriller from start to finish. Dode led most of the way and took the first, second and fourth rounds by a wide margin, while the third was about even.

Young Nationalista, another Vernon favorite, lost in the semi-windup to Georgie Rivers after a scrap the like of which has never been seen at Vernon before. Glen Clincker of Racine, Wis., lost to Ernie Owens in the special spot. Tommy White beat Joe Kelly. Young Farrell, substituting for Frankie Osner, got a draw with Felix Villamore. Jack Spencer won over Joe Pimenthal. Joe Burns was given the decision over Phil Lewis.

FIRST GAME OF SEASON GOES TO TIGER TEAM, 5-3

Root Driven From Mound In Fifth; Penner Gets His Thirteenth Win

By BEN McGUIRE
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—The Tigers opened a seven-game series with the Angels yesterday and took the opening game, 5 to 3, in a very loose contest. Incidentally, it was Ken Penner's thirteenth victory of the season and he allowed the Angels only seven hits. Both teams played ragged baseball.

Charley Root, the fast ball artist of the Angels was driven from the slab in the fifth, when the Tigers bunched hits and scored three runs. Ramsay who replaced him was very effective, but the Angels lacked the punch to overcome the Tigers' two run lead obtained off Root.

Vernon scored one in the first on two singles and an error. The Angels tied the count in their half on a walk and two singles. Vernon got another in the second when Root smacked Griffin on the hand, and McDowell and Penner followed with singles.

The Angels took the lead in the third on consecutive hits by Hood, Jacobs, Jenkins and Beck scoring two runs, but Root could not stand the gaff, and Essicks' gang came back in the fifth and scored three runs, before Root was replaced.

Walter Mails failed to stop the Seals at San Francisco yesterday and the Oaklanders returned across the bay with a defeat, 7 to 4. Four runs off Mails in the first cinched the game for the Seals. Mitchell worked for Oakland.

Seattle took the opening game at Sacramento when they beat the Solons, 7 to 3. An error in the second by Hemingway paved the way for three scores and victory for the visitors. Gregg hurled for the winners, with Thompson and Hall for the local team.

The new screens at the Salt Lake ball park robbed Sheehan of a home run but did not prevent him sending in the scores which enabled Salt Lake to beat Portland, 7 to 8. Earlier in the game Sheehan got a home run, and McCann added one to his list. Winters pitched for the Beavers and O'Doul hurled for the Bees.

Predict Grunion Run For Tonight at Beach

For those who missed the grunion fishing last night along the coast there is some satisfaction in knowing that they will again make their appearance on the sands tonight, according to the almanac of local Izaak Waltons. They are due to make their appearance at 10:11 Wednesday and at 10:58 Thursday. Long Beach, Seal Beach, Anaheim Landing and Huntington Beach will draw most of the grunion seekers.

PICK WISCONSIN AS NEXT VICTORS

Crew Finishing Second In Three-Mile Race Will Be Back In 1925

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 18.—While Washington won the honors in the three-mile varsity race at the forty-seventh annual Poughkeepsie regatta for the second successive year, the remarkable showing of Wisconsin was the talk of the east in rowing circles today.

Finishing second, and only two lengths behind the winners makes it virtually certain that the Wisconsin crew will return for next year's race, it was declared here today.

The victorious Washington crew members today were preparing to return to their homes in the far northwest.

Radicals Seem Unable to Agree Upon Program At Convention

opposses Communism. Mr. Mills has been several years in Great Britain, Australia and the Continent studying the labor movement. He used to be active in the old "Greenback party" and insists that it was captured by men not in sympathy with it and that no such fate shall befall any new party organized here or in Cleveland.

"The basis of representation," he said, "should be farmers' organizations and trade unions. Political committees should be organized which are truly representative of all farmer and labor bodies. We have no such representation here and that's why I am opposed to taking definite action here. We should wait on the Cleveland conference."

Fear Capture

Mr. Mills' idea of occupational representation is in the main acceptable to the majority of the delegates but the Communists wish to have several representatives in the national executive committee from the workers' party of America and affiliated organizations. Under the scheme proposed here, the control of the party could never be wrested from the managers by a direct primary in which everybody would participate. The radicals themselves know how easily they captured the machinery of the Republican and Democratic parties in western states by tactics of that kind. They mean to retain control by limiting voting inside the party to duly accredited delegates from workers' and farmers' organizations.

It is significant that there are no labor leaders of national prominence here. The American Federation of Labor is not represented. Samuel Gompers has never accepted the principle of a labor party as a political instrumentality and that is one of the reasons why, no matter what is done here, it will still represent a minority of the laboring men in the country. There are some radical leaders in attendance, like Alexander Howatt of Kansas, William Z. Foster of steel strike fame, and Duncan MacDonald, of Illinois, but on the whole the large farm bodies and the biggest labor groups have ignored this convention.

Hunt for Power

Whom do the delegates represent? Mostly minorities in all the labor and farmer organization, but they hope in time to gain power over their conservative brethren by an attractive program that will pull the rank and file from their present leaders. Some of the men here are no doubt ambitious to gain control of National Labor organizations for their own purposes. Some of them are "parlor Socialists" interested in the theory of radicalism and some of them are honestly convinced that with the turn of the tide in Europe there may be an era of extreme radicalism on this side. But the convention is builded for the most part on hope rather than the strength of constituent organizations.

TELLS OF DELAY IN SEWER WORK

Committee Submits Report Explanatory of Failure In Proceedings

Angeles, for the reason that the engineers of the water department and other officials of the city of Los Angeles objected to and refused to allow the sewer to pass through certain water-bearing lands near Los Angeles river. This made it necessary to either lay cast iron pipe for a considerable distance, at great expense to the city of Glendale, or to find another route that would be satisfactory to the city of Los Angeles, which would not materially increase the cost of construction above the cost estimated in the original estimate of the engineers. Much time has been consumed in surveying, laying out and agreeing upon these changes, and the ordinances and resolutions above mentioned could not be completed until the changes were worked out by the engineers and agreed upon.

Rights of Way

"The changes in the location of the sewer also made it necessary to obtain additional or other rights of way not heretofore thought necessary. This required time and attention, and we are advised that almost all of the rights of way over private property have been acquired at what might be termed a nominal cost, and that the rights of way over streets will be granted by ordinances of the two cities.

"The ordinances and resolutions above referred to, are being prepared by the legal departments of the two cities. They are not yet available but will be ready for introduction as soon as they can be prepared and receive the approval of the legal departments of both cities.

"We are convinced that no unnecessary time is being consumed in preparing the resolutions and ordinances, which are required by law and which must be adopted or passed before the attorneys for the bond buyers will give a favorable opinion as to the validity of the bonds.

"When this is completed the matter will be pushed as rapidly as the interest of the two parties will permit, to a sale of the bonds, advertising for bids and the actual construction of the sewer.

Ad Sells Ducks, Owner Has One Extra Dollar

Mrs. R. S. Henry of 1222 Winchester avenue recently advertised through the classified columns of The Evening News that she had for sale a brood of African Muscovy ducklings, and so effective was the notice that she has disposed of all of them. But now Mrs. Henry is bothered by the fact that in the press of business she overcharged a certain woman $1.

She does not know whose money it is that she is holding, but wishes the two women who called on her together and purchased four and ten ducks respectively to know that she will return the dollar to the one to whom she owes it, if arrangements will be made by calling either Glendale 1753 or 2673-W.

BIG AMOUNT OF MONEY HIDDEN

Total of $433,000,000 Is Kept In Secret, Says Actuary for U. S.

conclusions were as follows:

Held by foreigners who have not lived in America long enough to build up a trust in banks, $225,000,000.

Play With Hoards

Held by farmers who are too far from banks or too cautious to deposit, $125,000,000.

Held by misers, who live in squalor and derive their sole joy from playing with their accumulated hoards, $44,000,000.

Held by children in toy banks, $1,500,000.

The balance, some $47,500,000, which cannot be accounted for in detail, is the nation's pocket money—here five, there ten, there a hundred.

Mr. McCoy says of the misers:

"In this time of pleasure seeking and mad speculation there are more than 8000 persons who would rather live in filth and want, suffering hunger's worst torture, than spend the money they have saved. These are the country's misers—no creatures of story books, but living men, who keep their wealth because they love to touch and gloat over it. They are quite real—one in every 4950 money-makers of the country—and the average treasure is at least $5500."

But why is a miser? Ah, there is one inscrutability that even Mr. McCoy cannot unscrew.
